GC schools develop AIDS guidelines

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Temporary guidelines for dealing with AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) at Granite City schools were adopted by the school board Jan. 7.

AIDS guidelines will be in effect for the school staff until the board's Policy Committee can present sufficient background material to adopt a permanent policy.

THERE ARE NO CASES of AIDS within the schools, Superintendent Max Redmond said.

"These guidelines were recommended to us by the NEA (National Education Association)," Redmond said. "We have no current cases. We are putting this in place should there ever be any question."

Guidelines cover five points: whether infected individuals will remain in the school environment, medical evaluation, alternative education, volunteer service to AIDS victims, and anonymity.

Students with oozing lesions or who lack control of bodily functions will not be permitted to attend classes.

DETERMINATION of which students fall in that category will be made on a case-by-case basis by a team of school administrators and public health personnel.

The schools may require individuals they have reason to believe are infected to submit to medical evaluation.

Sexual orientation does not constitute reasonable cause for ordering the exam, the policy says. No student, school employee or potential employee will be required to provide information as to his or her sexual preference.

IF A STUDENT is not permitted to attend classes, the schools will make every reasonable attempt to provide an alternative education. Only volunteers will teach AIDS victims.

Infected employees may be discharged, but will still be entitled to any available medical leave or disability benefits.

If infected individuals are permitted to remain in the school environment, school employees who are likely to have personal contact with them will be informed.

In all other cases, the identities of individuals with AIDS will not be publicly revealed under the present guidelines.

Four cases of AIDS in Madison County

Madison County has had four AIDS cases, including two deaths.

Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said Thursday there have been 361 cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) in this state since Illinois record-keeping began in 1981. Of the 361 victims, 184 are dead.

The total number of diagnosed AIDS cases is up 167 since 1984, when the year-end total was 194 cases to date.

"These figures represent only the tip of the iceberg. In the next few years, we will witness a frightening geometric growth of AIDS cases, which are now doubling in number every 10 months," Turnock said.

"We project we may have nearly 5,000 cases of AIDS in Illinois by the end of 1988."

More than half of the reported AIDS cases have died, similar to the national pattern of 16,000 cases and 8,000 deaths.

More than 100,000 in Illinois have been exposed to AIDS but only a fracture of this number will actually contract the disease, officials said.

In Illinois, 277 of the present cases (78 percent) are Chicago residents. Suburban Cook County and the "collar counties" represent 57 AIDS cases (17 percent).

A total of five AIDS cases (about 1 percent) is attributed to heterosexually transmitted infection.

"Not a single AIDS victim in Illinois has ever recovered," Turnock said. "IDPH is developing a multifaceted plan in the hope of effectively confronting the even starker reality of AIDS in the years to come."

St. Clair County has had no cases so far.

Missouri cases total 100.

City's liability insurance increases 78 percent

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

GRANITE CITY — City liability insurance has increased 78 percent over the past year.

Officials will meet to discuss the possibility of the city becoming self-insured despite City Comptroller Joe Miklovic's recommendation to stay with the current insurer, the Illinois Municipal League.

In a special meeting Tuesday night, Miklovic informed aldermen of the increase and of the change in the city's coverage.

THE CITY BUDGETED $300,000 for insurance in fiscal 1986 but will pay almost $450,000 for the coverage, Miklovic said.

Other changes in the insurance include:

- Error and omission insurance was changed from an occurrence basis to a claims-made basis.
- The comprehensive general liability capacity of $26 million per occurrence was reduced in $1 million in "umbrella" liability insurance. This matter is being negotiated.
- Public officials' liability policy was changed from $1 million per occurrence coverage per city. Negotiations are pending on a $20 million umbrella on this policy.
- Automotive liability was reduced from $26 million per occurrence to $1 million. Negotiations are still pending on the liability coverage.
- Automotive coverage for physical damage was increased from $1.6 million to $200 million in coverage.
- Inland marine coverage was increased from $1.35 million in blanket coverage to $200 million in coverage.
- Employer's liability was reduced from $25.7 million per occurrence to $900,000 in coverage, with negotiations still pending.
- Personal injury, advertising, police, civil rights, contractual, products and liquor liability coverages had been extended by an additional $25 million per occurrence with a $25 million blanket aggregate for all members. It is currently in negotiations. Umbrella liability coverage has not been obtained.
- Asbestos and pollution liability has been eliminated.

Apartments burn

PONTOON BEACH — The tenants of a four-unit apartment building at 4070 Oakmont (formerly Gaslight Walk) lost their homes to fire Friday afternoon.

The fire started in an apartment occupied by Rosetta DeLong, whose daughter found smoke in a back bedroom.

"I TRIED TO CALL (the fire department), but I got scared because there were loud, popping noises," DeLong said. "There was a man driving by, and he said he would get the fire department.

"The only thing I thought of when I heard the loud noises was it's going to blow," she said.

In her hurry to leave the apartment, DeLong forgot her car keys. Her car, which was parked in front of the apartment, also suffered extensive fire damage.

"FROM THE TIME the man drove by, it was between five and ten minutes before the fire reached the front door," DeLong said. "I never saw anything spread so fast. In 10 minutes it was all over the apartment."

DeLong's neighbors in another apartment were not home when the fire broke out, she said. Another apartment is vacant and the fourth unit was being used as an office, she said.

The building is owned by Jerry Ragan, who has offered DeLong, her daughter and grandson the use of another apartment, DeLong said. She also has offers to stay with friends, she said.

LONG LAKE FIRE Department, with assistance from the Mitchell Fire Department, was called to the fire about 1:30 p.m.

"It (the fire) was through the roof when we pulled up," said Mike Karlechik of the Long Lake department.

Three of the four units were destroyed by the fire, while the fourth unit suffered heat and water damage, he said.

An investigation into the cause of the fire is being conducted.

Tap-on fees overdue

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Residents who haven't paid their tap-on fee balance to the Arlington Heights Water District are being contacted by the district's attorney.

And if the residents don't pay, they may lose their chance to hook onto the water system for $800.

Thirteen residents who signed hook-on contracts still have not paid the $750 balance of the tap-on fee, it was related during Thursday's Water District Board of Commissioners meeting.

One resident has contacted Board President Jerry Lilley since the letters were mailed, Lilley said. The letters set a deadline of Jan. 17 for payment of the tap-on fee.

Should residents still refuse to pay the tap-on fee, they may be sent a "letter of forfeiture." That letter would allow them to withdraw from the hook-on contract, but a $50 deposit would be forfeited. The resident also would have to pay a higher tap-on fee if he chooses to connect onto the water system in the future.

Arlington Apartments has made the final payment of its tap-on fee, Lilley said.

The owners of Fairway Estates apartments paid an initial $600 deposit and still owe $17,400. Lilley said he talked with the owners last week.

"They're eager to work out the details and they apologized for the delay," he said. "Arrangements are being made out of state. I think we'll have our money within a week to 10 days."

In addition to the owed tap-on fees, the water district needs a few more easements, said Dennis Denby, consulting engineer from M.B. Corlew and Associates Inc. Tap-on fees and easements must be obtained and plans for the water system completed before the water district may advertize for bids, he said.

The district still is seeking insurance coverage. "No one has furnished me with a firm bid yet," Lilley said.

Commissioners decided to contact the Illinois Department of Insurance for help in finding insurance.

The water system, with water supplied by Illinois-American Water Co., should be in full operation by the fall of 1986, water district officials have said.

A $345,000 FmHA (Farmers Home Administration) loan will help pay for construction of the new water system.

Protest a dud

GRANITE CITY — Less than a dozen anti-abortion protestors appeared at the Hope Clinic on Saturday morning.

More than 100 members of Belleville Area Right to Life were expected to attend, Tom Cassady, 29, of Belleville said prior to the demonstration.

But even good weather on Saturday was insufficient to fulfill Cassady's announcement; five persons were at the clinic at 7:45 a.m., only eight persons were there by 9:30 a.m. The protest was to last from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Prior to Saturday's protest, Cassady had stated there were be monthly protests at the clinic.

Cassady could not be reached for comment on the small turnout by press time on Saturday.

Announcement surprises some merchants

GRANITE CITY — Many downtown businessmen were surprised by the announcement Tuesday of the planned shopping center.

Many of those who own shops slated for demolition under the plan, first heard the news in the Press-Record. Others said they heard rumors of a plan, but not that their buildings might be torn down.

Ruth Zucker, owner of Ruth's Store Fashions, 1316 19th St., said she would go out of business unless the city offered her fair compensation for relocating.

"I think the plan is a good idea, I just wish they wouldn't have picked on my store," she said.

Mike Boone, co-owner of Homespun Gifts & Custom Fram Shop, 1312 19th St., said he doesn't think the plan will work.

"This isn't the answer — tearing down buildings," he said. "Sure, there are some delapidated buildings, but they can be repaired."

Linda Williams, manager of Swiss Farms II, 1322 19th St., said she was indifferent about the plan.

"I really don't care if it goes in or not," she said. "If it does happen, we'll probably move into the mall."

Vernon McIntyre, manager of Checker Cab Co., 1338 19th St., was skeptical about the plan.

"It's a pipe dream," he said. "This mayor has champagne ideas on a beer pocketbook. The mall would be beautiful, but the rents would be high and businesses would not be able to afford to move in."

George Matz, business agent for the National Maritime Union of America, 1836a Delmar Ave., said he thinks the mall plan amounts to wishful thinking.

"There are still hard economic times," he said. "I'm glad to see the city doing anything to revitalize, but in the long run I don't think the dollars will stay here."

Dr. Felicia Koch, occupant and owner of the Koch building, 1821 Edison Ave., said the announcement upset her.

"I was planning to sell the building (Thursday afternoon), but now I'm left in a quandary," she said. "I was planning to retire."

Malcolm Brodski, owner of Factory Outlet Shoes, 1304 19th St., said he is in favor of the plan.

"I'm in favor of it if the downtown would benefit," he said. "It's an admirable effort. By the time they get around to demolishing this building I'll have been in business for almost 40 years — that's pretty good."

Nancy Somers, manager of Granite Office Supplies Inc., 1836 Delmar Ave., said the news came a little late for her business.

"I'm going out of business at the end of the month," she said. "The city should have done this a long time ago."

Keith Wagner, manager of the Wagner Sign Co., 1818 Delmar, and owner of the building, said he is concerned about how much the city will pay for his property.

"And who will pick up the cost for us to move and re-establish?" he asked. "I wish the city would do something — I just don't want to get burnt."

Alan Ortbals, city coordinator, said the city will base the price offered for the buildings on appraised value. He said the appraisal will be performed by an independent appraiser or appraisal company that is state certified.

Ortbals added that he "understands the city has to help the businesses relocate." That "help" may include monetary compensation. He said he is not certain how the time lapse for businesses, between demolition and the move into the mall, will be handled.

Roger Stacy, manager of Tri-City Printing, 1814 Delmar Ave., said his first impressions of the plan are good.

"If the city itself can improve by the plan, I'm sure the owner would be more than willing to move out and relocate," he said. "I think it's a step in the right direction."

Marguerite Barker, librarian for the Christian Science Reading Room, 1336 19th St., is in favor of the plan.

"We businesses can't look at the plan selfishly," she said. "It sounds good for the downtown. We can move into the mall — but for us the rent would have to economical."

Fred W. Painter, regional manager of the Driver's Service Facility at 1815 Delmar Ave., said he hopes the office will be able to move into the mall.

"I've always considered our facility to be a magnet for business, since people have to come here to get their driver's license renewed. I'd like our facility to be a part of it."

Illinois American Water Co., 1800 Edison holds a lease on its building through 1989. District Manager Robert Jackson said he was sure the company could find a suitable place to relocate.

"This is a great thing to happen for the community," Jackson said.

Jim McMillan, manager of the T&H Laundry located at 1841 State Street and a lifelong resident of the city did not share Jackson's feelings.

"I don't go for it myself," McMillan said. "I wish they'd locate it (the mall) somewhere else."

Marie Plese, co-owner of Prestige Printing Co. located at 1091 Edison said the proposed shopping center's location makes sense.

"I can understand why they would choose this block," Plese said. "There aren't a lot of buildings here.

"If they are willing to pay what this building is worth, I see no objection to it," Plese said.

Ortbals said he should be able to begin answering questions about the purchase and relocation of existing downtown businesses after he meets with planners in East Peoria on Jan. 18.

That city is being used as a model for the plan, Ortbals said.

"Once we start knocking out the details, I'm going to meet with the owners and answer their questions," Ortbals said.

Is U.S. lagging?

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — As the Information Age dawns, the United States is still sleeping while Japan and some of the nations of Western Europe are already up and hard at work.

They are making the long-range plans and doing the groundwork that will allow them to take advantage of the high-technology breakthroughs that are occurring with dizzying speed. They are already challenging our once formidable lead.

Can our competition overtake us? Yes. Can we stop them? Not at the rate we're going. Does it matter? Very definitely yes.

The Information Revolution is every bit as significant as the earlier Industrial and Agricultural Revolutions — but this time the "old order" is being toppled many times faster. The new generations of computers will completely transform the way we work and live by the year 2000.

Microprocessor chips no bigger than a baby's fingernail will be able to compress all the information contained in the Library of Congress into the space taken up by your dining room table. A single optical disk the size of a long-playing record will be able to store as much information as there is now in all the world's telephone directories.

The Information Revolution began in the United States, but our country is now in danger of being trampled underfoot. Our schools graduate lawyers while Japan's are graduating engineers; half our students take no math after the 10th grade and 80 percent don't complete science courses.

Our associate Michael Binstein consulted a number of experts, and here are some of their forecasts:

— Before 1990, information technology will be the world's biggest manufacturing industry.

— By 1994, the information industry's yearly revenues in the United States will be $300 billion — 6 percent of the gross national product, more than double what it is today.

— By 1995, computers will be at least 100 times more productive, but at costs roughly comparable to the present; computers a thousand times more efficient are possible by the year 2000.

— There are now more than 6 million computers in this country; by 1990, one-half of all households will probably have some sort of computer-based system.

— Even with the growth in computer-related manufacturing, there will be only 22 million Americans employed in manufacturing by 1995, compared to more than 28 million in service industries. And employment in the basic smokestack industries will shrink from its current 20 percent of the labor force to a mere 8 percent.

Neither the government nor America's corporate titans are doing much to prepare for the consequences of the Information Revolution, let alone take advantage of it. The best brains in the business world waste their talents and energies bleeding their own and other corporations in extravagant and unproductive takeover attempts. Instead, they should be mapping strategies to win foreign markets for American products, a necessity if the U.S. economy is to grow at the pace necessary to support our population.

Cruse: State of city address

Your views

VON DEE CRUSE was elected to the post of mayor in Granite City in April 1985. He previously served as the Granite City Township assessor for more than 19 years and is a former member of the City Council.

Granite City prided itself for many decades on being the Pittsburgh of the West, a smokestack community where people came to find jobs, work hard, and do their part for the community and the nation.

The postwar years were prosperous and the city's growth was impressive.

With the completion of the Chain of Rocks Canal and Lock 27, the city became a river port with economic potential. However, this has been tempered with the decline of the railroads, which ultimately led to the closing of General Steel and has contributed to employment instability at American Steel.

The loss of Union Starch & Refining Co. and foreign competition in the steel and automobile industries have further compounded the city's economic problems.

As the postwar baby boom came to an end, the city found it had overbuilt its school system and our population began to decline, as young people moved away to find jobs that were not available here.

The city has been at a crossroads. It could continue to decline or it could choose to build a new future.

One of the first steps in building that future in 1985 was to hire Alan Ortbals as economic development coordinator.

An economic development council of professional, business, labor and government leaders was appointed to advise and work with him. The council has met weekly to evaluate data and proposals developed by Ortbals in connection with the potentials of our enterprise zone designation and the tax increment financing provisions passed by the Illinois legislature.

An encouraging number of new businesses have been established in Granite City in the last few months. McDonald's Restaurants have acquired property for a new outlet at 21st Street and Madison Avenue that should encourage further business development in that area.

Last month, the city issued $3 million in industrial revenue bonds to Eticam, a company that processes metals from plating industry wastewaters. The location of the Eticam facility in Granite City may attract new industries that need to dispose of their wastes in a safe and economical manner.

The city removed parking meters from the downtown in an effort to eliminate a hindrence to business activity. Other steps are under consideration to encourage the utilization of the property and facilities that are available in the downtown area.

A senior citizens' council was appointed to determine what additional programs or services are needed. A township youth committee was established to look at ways to improve facilities and activities for young people.

To facilitate access to City Hall offices and courtrooms, an elevator is being installed in City Hall for handicapped and elderly people. The elevator will be located in the shaft that was originally designed for the building.

Preliminary work has been completed and installation is waiting on delivery of the elevator, which

Sen. Simon may be presidential timber

Columnists' club

Bill Winter

President Lincoln was more closely associated with Illinois than any other state. President Reagan was born in Illinois. Will the third president from Illinois come from Madison County?

The thought arose with Gary Hart's near-announcement he will seek the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination. He will possibly vie with rivals like Cong. Richard Gephardt of St. Louis County, Republican hopefuls for the Oval Office are likely to include Vice President George Bush.

It may not be in '88, but I think U.S. Senator Paul Simon — a former Granite City area state representative and state senator — could make it to the White House in the 1990s.

I'm not quite old enough to have voted for Lincoln. Why would I vote for Democrat Simon after I voted for Republican Reagan? Why do I regard Paul as presidential timber? I'll answer in this column; but, first, a few memories:

—In the early 1950s, we were young Madison County newspapermen. Both the Troy and Granite City papers fought vigorously against outrageous conduct by various politicians and gangsters.

—Just before each of us entered the Army, I recall covering the Kefauver Commission anti-crime hearings in St. Louis. Many public officials from here were on the witness stand. Another who gave testimony was Paul Simon, questioned and complimented by Sen. Estes Kefauver on what Simon knew of corruption in Madison County and what he was doing to end it.

—Both Paul and I were guests of Everett Steele one Sunday night at the Young Adult Group of 2nd Presbyterian Church, St. Louis. Everett introduced me there to Lois, who became my wife. Paul later met his wife when both he and Jeanne were state legislators.

—In the wake of his stunning defeat in the 1972 Democratic primary for governor (his only loss among dozens of victories), Paul, myself, the Carbondale editor and our wives enjoyed a home-cooked dinner at his home in Troy and then exchanged opinions on "what went wrong." He became a college professor for two years and then served in Congress for 10 years, 1974-84, before advancing to the Senate.

—In early 1985, I covered Paul's Metro East "town meeting," which packed the University Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. It was only one of 136 he conducted last year around the state, but it was an important, productive occasion for many Madison County voters and taxpayers.

Although not a conservative, Simon has the backing of a wide spectrum of the public for such stands as his active role in seeking to balance the federal budget.

Many view him as a liberal, but not of the type that advocates a "welfare state."

What distinguishes him is his realization that people of all walks of life, all economic circumstances, have valid worries of one kind or another. Just as in 1968-72, when he served as state ombudsman while he was a Democratic lieutenant governor during a Republican governor's term, he is a skilled problem-solver.

Part of his prowess results from the fact that he is perhaps the busiest, hardest-working senator of all 100 in study, debate and bill sponsorship. But he also finds time to resolve individuals' needs.

One of the ways he learns of such needs is the exchange of information at his town meetings. This enabled him to become aware of rising liability insurance costs, which have forced some small businesses to close and created budget problems for many governmental bodies. His staff is now seeking remedies.

He comments, "It's one thing to read about the farm problem, much different to talk to flesh-and-blood people whose agony is written on their faces and in what they say. It's one thing to know unemployment statistics, another to talk to a mother who is worried about the mental health of her son because he can't find a job."

"The people who took time to attend town meetings held in every corner of the state helped me to become a better senator. Many made excellent suggestions that I have helped enact or that I am still pressing in Congress or with federal agencies."

He sees such contact as good for him, good for those who attend and "good for the process of democracy."

I agree, and I wonder if someday Republicans, Democrats and independents will conclude the best man for the United States presidency is an Illinoisan who knows how — and has the energy, ability and desire — to solve small and large problems facing America and Americans.

Downtown talk good

There's been a lot of talk about the downtown redevelopment plan.

And that's good.

Everyone should be talking it over. The idea promises to be a great step for downtown's future. It is a departure from memories of a bygone era; a bold vision of a more prosperous downtown lies ahead.

Few plans, however, are ever greeted with total enthusiasm. Though some persons are very broad minded, recognizing a shopping center would be for the greater good of Granite City, others are critical. They wonder, among other considerations, what kinds of businesses will locate in the center, which could hold up to 40 shops.

What's certain so far is that the downtown center should compliment rather than compete with businesses on Nameoki Road. Other than that, there is talk of possibilities and desires, but much remains to be worked out when the city gets to the point of settling on a developer.

Another certainty is that, without a plan to which downtown will commit itself, the area will continue to deteriorate. It may sit for several more years waiting for another plan, and another, ad infinitim.

Frankly, it seems we've reached a point where most people are all "planned-out." They've had enough. They want action.

The time is now for downtown's revitalization. There can be no more waiting. Take a plan, any plan, and it can be picked apart until nothing is left, or it can be supported and implemented; a sound offer of progress is superior to the certainty of stagnation and decline.

With the economic development coordinator at the tiller, a progressive mayor on the bridge and a cooperative crew of civic leaders and city officials manning the oars, it's time for downtown to weigh anchor in search of the realization of prosperity that, for too long, has been just a dream on the horizon.

Correction on name

Concerning the downtown development plan story, the introduction stated the plan was presented by the chamber. In fact, it should have stated the plan was presented at the chamber office by Alan Ortbals and the city's Economic Development Council. We regret the error.

This is how we endorse candidates

The media mandarin

Jack Ventimiglia

Public speaking is really enjoyable for me — like shaving dry, having the wrong tooth drilled, getting audited.

With admitted trepidation, I agreed to speak at a candidates' workshop sponsored last Wednesday by the Illinois Press Association and the Illinois Board of Election Commissioners.

My speech, about how our newspaper endorses candidates, was to be given at Belleville Area College and I assumed a liberal mixture of students would be among the candidates.

To interest the students, my speech contained the expected information, plus anecdotes poking fun at politicians.

Unfortunately, no students attended. I stood in front of about 25 candidates, holding a six-page, single-spaced speech rendered almost useless because I wasn't in the mood to risk making critical remarks about politicians in a room they alone occupied.

I winged it. No one went to sleep or walked out, there were some questions, and polite applause; I did OK.

So, fresh from my triumphal speaking engagement at Belleville Area College, I returned to Granite City where there are some readers and politicians who might be interested in how we make endorsements, but who were not interested in driving all the way to BAC.

Cutting a half-hour talk to the minimum, here's how we do it:

1) We send questionnaires containing biographical and issue-related questions to everyone who's running.

2) Based on questionnaire responses, and possible interviews, we determine if one candidate clearly dominates the others in each race. In such cases, we know who to endorse.

3) In close races, time permitting, we invite each candidate to talk with the editor, the reporter who has covered the race, and perhaps the copy desk chief and/or publisher. We discuss the issues and, later, the "editorial board" decides who to endorse.

Following our review process, in one or two key races we may actually write an editorial extolling the virtues of the candidates of our choice. In some races, if our efforts don't produce enough information, we make no endorsements.

But, usually, we make an endorsement and it takes the form of a "yes" placed next to the candidate's name. It may not seem like much, but it could make all the difference in a close race.

The point stressed at the close of my talk was that, after the election, it makes no difference who we endorsed when it comes to future treatment of the person who was elected.

If "our" candidate wins, but performs questionably in office, our editorial page will be a recurring thorn in the flesh. If a candidate we did not endorse performs well, he'll find us to be a valued ally.

In short, we're less interested in campaign performances than in the actual work done by our elected officials.

ICE-GLAZED ROADS AND BLOWING SNOW in early February make driving dangerous, at best, for these motorists on Illinois Route 3 near West Pontoon Road.

Advance preparation key to winter survival

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Winter storms kill persistently — from year to year — by both direct and indirect means, Richard H. Ervay, Granite City coordinator for the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, reminded local residents this week.

Deaths come from automobile accidents, overexertion, exhaustion, resulting fatal heart attacks, exposure and fatal freezing.

HOUSE FIRES, carbon monoxide poisoning in stalled cars, falls on slippery walks and electrocution from downed wires can add to the winter death toll, Ervay said.

The first step in winter preparedness is said to be keeping posted on weather conditions. His advice: Listen to a local radio or television station or a Weather Service radio to keep informed of current forecasts in this area.

Even a few hours' warning may enable you to avoid being caught outside in a severe storm, or to be better prepared to cope with it at home.

"WATCH" and "warning" terms are used to define the approach of winter storms, as well as for other natural hazards, Ervay explained.

"Watch" means severe winter weather conditions may affect this area. Under a watch, residents should keep listening for advisories and begin precautionary measures, he said.

"Warning" means severe winter weather conditions are imminent and immediate action should be taken to protect life and property.

RESIDENTS ALSO need to understand the terms commonly used in weather forecasts, the coordinator said.

A "blizzard" is the most dangerous of all winter storms. It combines cold air, heavy snow, and strong winds that blow the snow about and may reduce visibility to only a few yards.

A "blizzard warning" is issued when the National Weather Service expects a considerable accumulation of falling and/or blowing snow with winds of 35 miles per hour or more.

A SEVERE-BLIZZARD warning means that a considerable accumulation of falling and/or blowing snow is expected, with winds of at least 45 miles an hour and temperatures of 10 degrees or lower.

A "heavy snow" warning usually means an expected snowfall of four inches or more in a 12-hour period, or six inches or more in a 24-hour period.

"Travelers' Advisories" are issued to indicate that snow, sleet and freezing rain or drizzle will make driving difficult.

"Ice Storm" is the term used to describe freezing rain or drizzle when a substantial glaze layer accumulates.

SIDEWALKS, STREETS and highways become extremely hazardous to pedestrians and motorists under such conditions. More than 85 percent of ice-storm deaths are traffic-related, according to state authorities.

Avoiding travel in winter storms is the best advice, Ervay said. However, if you must use a car make sure it is in good condition, properly serviced, and is equipped with chains or snow tires.

Plan any travel ahead of time, selecting both primary and alternate routes. Make sure someone knows where you are going, your approximate itinerary, and estimated time of arrival at your destination.

TRAVEL BY DAYLIGHT and use major highways, if possible. Also try not to travel alone and, where possible, travel in convoy with another vehicle. Keep the car radio on for current weather information and advisories.

The ESDA coordinator said keeping an auto's gasoline tank as nearly full as possible will keep water out of the tank and provide maximum advantage in case of trouble.

Always fill your tank before entering open country, even if for a short distance.

WINTER STORM SUPPLIES should be carried in a car when traveling. They should include a container of sand; shovel and windshield scraper; battery booster cables; a tow chain or rope; and one set of tire chains.

A flashlight and a transistor radio, both with extra batteries, are called essential.

Emergency items should also include a first-aid kit with a pocketknife; compass and road maps; pliers, screwdriver and an adjustable wrench; non-perishable food such as canned nuts, dried fruit and candy; matches and candles; and paper towels and facial tissues.

When driving any distance, a motorist should carry extra winter clothing, including wool caps, mittens, socks and overshoes; sleeping bags or two or more blankets (a stack of newspapers can provide layers of insulation and make a good substitute) and two 3-pound coffee cans with lids — one to use for sanitary facilities and the other to burn candles for heat.

IF A BLIZZARD traps you in a car stay in the vehicle and do not attempt to walk, Ervay said.

Always leave a down-wind window slightly open for ventilation if an emergency heat source or a car's heater are being used. Carbon monoxide poisoning can happen without the victim being aware of it until it is too late, he cautioned.

Exertion from attempting to push your car, shoveling heavy drifts and performing other chores during strong winds, blinding snow and bitter cold of a blizzard may cause a heart attack — even for persons in apparently good physical condition.

Caution and common sense must be used at all times during a winter storm and advance planning can reduce its hazards, Ervay said.

Trip planned

GRANITE CITY — Plans concerning the proposed downtown revitalization program are moving according to schedule following its announcement at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

On Saturday, Jan. 18, members of the Economic Development Council appointed by Mayor Von Dee Cruse in September, plan to join City Council members, the Downtown Merchants Association and the Chamber of Commerce on a trip to East Peoria.

The visit to East Peoria is part of an agenda developed to keep the program moving forward from the point of the announcement.

The development strategy used in East Peoria is most similar to that proposed in Granite City, according to information provided by Economic Development Director Alan Ortbals. Since adopting a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) ordinance several years ago, East Peoria city planners have seen the construction of 70,000-square-feet of office space, 105,000-square-feet of new retail space, and will be breaking ground on a 120,000-square-foot shopping center in the spring.

The group intends to tour these new developments and to question the East Peoria director of planning, Jay Thompson, on his experiences with TIF and attracting developers.

East Peoria is one of almost 20 Illinois communities which have used TIF to spur redevelopment.

Members of the mayor's Economic Development Council are Ortbals, Nick Huniak, James Kelahan, Dewey Melton, Dennis Orsey, Sharon Perjak, Eric Robertson, Avery Schermer, Don Adams, Jack Dempsey, Jim Schmedake, Paul Sodko, George Sykes, Dr. Al Trtanj, Bob Weis, Leo Wolf, Don Partney, R C Bush, Henry Ross and the mayor's special assistant, Henry Bieniecki.

Reminder to list refund on return

Many Illinois taxpayers can expect a notice in the next few weeks from the Illinois Department of Revenue reminding them of the amount of the income tax refund they received from the state last spring.

Taxpayers who itemized on their 1984 federal tax returns must report this refund as income on their 1985 federal income tax returns.

More than 1.2 million taxpayers will be mailed the notices — called 1099G forms — which are required by the federal government under the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA).

THE ACT REQUIRES that taxpayers who itemize deductions be notified of their state refunds — and other types of overpayments — so the amount will be correctly reported on this year's returns. Taxpayers who received a refund through an amended return also will be notified.

The 1099G form indicates on Line 5 the amount that should be reported to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Line 5 tells how much more the taxpayer paid in taxes last year than was actually owed when the Il-1040 was filed.

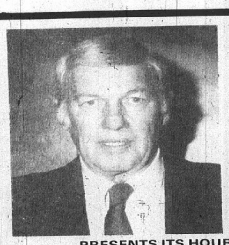

This is usually the amount refunded to the taxpayer. However, some taxpayers ask that part of this amount instead go to a charitable fund through the income tax checkoff program, or be credited toward next year's taxes.

And in some instances, part of this "overpayment" goes to pay taxes owed for previous years.

IRS STATISTICS show that about 38 percent of returns filed from Illinois addresses itemize deductions.

The total on Line 5 is to be reported as income on line 10 of the federal 1040. However, the amount can be deducted on line 4G of the state tax return, IL-1040 (see instructions for the IL-1040).

A REMINDER FROM THE LAW TODAY

In New York City, the district attorney is considering submitting to a grand jury charges that doctors and nurses at a certain hospital were criminally negligent in connection with the death of an 18-year-old woman. The woman, who was admitted to the hospital for an earache, died after she was given incompatible drugs, put in a type of straitjacket, and tied to a bed. Outside medical authorities have said that the action of the doctors and nurses constituted a gross deviation from proper standards of care.

The lesson in all this is not that all doctors and nurses are this bad. Rather, it is that the health care system — even with the supposed safeguards of malpractice suits and doctor's disciplinary commissions — does not always work. The answer to making it work better certainly does not lie in limiting the rights that injured patients have now, as many legislatures have done under pressure the medical lobby. Moreover, the medical profession may well find — as the above example shows — that substandard conduct will not be tolerated by the public even in the presence of legislation limiting the constitutional right to a jury trial.

We will be discussing this and other matters on Tuesday night's program.

Contracts ratified

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Contracts with cooks, custodians, secretaires and craftsmen were unanimously ratified Jan. 7 by Community Unit School District 9 officials.

The agreements are virtually identical to that ratified by Teachers Local 743 and the school board on Dec. 17.

ALL THREE GROUPS will receive a 7 percent wage hike retroactive to the start of the 1985-86 school year. It is the first pay raise for the workers in three years.

Also in the package is a 1 percent incentive increase if absenteeism among employees decreases by 10 percent during the rest of the school year.

For a reduction in overall absenteeism, workers and the district will split all funds in excess of $550,000, but less than $800,000, in the education fund after a final audit of district records at the close of the school year.

A $550,000 contingency fund will be maintained by the district to meet upcoming costs.

"WE FEEL THIS is a pretty fair package," said Jerry Webb, a spokesman for Service Employees Local 98. The union represents 130 cooks and custodians in the district.

"After three years, we're tickled to death," he said. Members of local 98 ratified the wage pact Jan. 4 by a unanimous vote.

Other groups involved were the 36 secretaries belonging to American Federation of Teachers Local 743 and 15 craftsmen employed by the district through four trade unions.

Each group agreed to sign a "memorandum of understanding" with the board promising to begin school on time next August.

THE MEMO POSTPONES salary negotiations on a new contract until a final audit for the school year is obtained next November.

Negotiations on new contracts begin this spring. The agreement reached this week was a wage reopener provided in the second year of a two-year agreement signed in the fall of 1984.

Total added cost to the district for teacher contracts and the agreements signed Jan. 7 will be $1,050,000. The money will come from one-time state aid payments given to the board during the current school year.

ADMINISTRATIVE salaries will increase 7 percent across the board on the 10-step pay scale.

Lectures set at Mounds

Did you ever wonder what the life of the prehistoric Indians here was like? Why did they build mounds? Where did they go? Cahokia Mounds Historic Site will be presenting a lecture series on the culture of the prehistoric residents.

Distinguished specialists have been invited to lecture on specific topics this winter and spring.

The series begins Sunday, Jan. 19, with Bill Iseminger, Cahokia Mounds Museum Curator, introducing the audience to the prehistoric metropolis. Dr. Wayne Wendland, Illinois state climatologist with the Illinois State Water Survey, will lecture on the climte. Dr. James King, assistant director of science, Illinois State Museum, will speak on the environment.

On Feb. 16, Frances King, research associate in ethnobotany, Illinois State Museum, will discuss natural foods and medicines used by the Indians. Leonard Blake, a leading authority on seeds, will take a look into the agricultural life of these people.

The free lectures are scheduled at 1:30 p.m. on the above dates at the Cahokia Mounds theater, 7850 Collinsville Road.

Stevenson visits area

GRANITE CITY — Adali Stevenson will be in Granite City Tuesday as part of an area tour promoting his candidacy for governor.

The Democratic candidate will meet with business, labor and political officials during the tour, said Dan Partney of Granite City. Partney is a coordinator for the former U.S. senator who is seeking to unseat Gov. James Thompson.

On his schedule, Stevenson will conduct private interviews with area media, including the Press-Record•Journal, will meet with labor representatives at the Carpenters Hall, will talk to Quad-City Area mayors, and will meet with Madison County Democratic Party Chairman Mac Warfield.

should be in about 12 weeks. It is expected that City Council meetings can be resumed in City Hall when the elevator is in place.

An aggressive program has been initiated by the city inspector's office and the city attorney to eliminate health and safety code violations. The building inspector and electrical inspector have also been pursuing aggressive programs to bring substandard buildings into code agreement or to proceed with demolition.

In a few months, Horner & Shifrin, engineers retained to make an up-to-date study of the Nameoki area sewer system, are expected to complete their report. The report should provide the information required by the City Council and the community in making sound decisions on how to rehabilitate the entire system and avoid the problems of repeated failures.

A study committee also has been appointed to evaluate fire protection in the community. Inadequate protection not only threatens life and property, but increases insurance costs to property owners. The study is intended to develop data to help make optimum decisions on staffing and operations versus costs.

As a smokestack community, Granite City has come to realize that it must make a determined effort to be able to prosper and grow.

This effort will require the energies, talents and cooperation of everyone — the city administration, the City Council, the city employees, businessmen, labor, the school and park districts, and all other institutions of the community.

In 1985 it was clear that the desire to move ahead was there. The new year will provide many opportunities to implement the things that can and should be done.

Charles D. Spinks, 27, of East Alton was arrested in Granite City Jan. 10 on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of illegal transportation of alcohol. Spinks was charged with battery after he allegedly grabbed a police officer's arm during the booking process.

CAR'S SPOILER TAKEN

DREW KARANDJEFF
PRESIDENT
Central Bank of Granite City

Q. Since I utilize my bank for my credit needs, I haven't fallen into any of the infamous "credit traps" which one often hears about. I wonder if you could explain a few of these.

A. There are many "credit traps" used by unscrupulous lenders of which to be aware. The contract with an "add-on clause" is one. In this case, the seller keeps title to an entire list of items you are buying on credit until full payment has been completed — a houseful of furniture, for example. One delinquent payment could permit the seller to repossess everything, even though you're down to a few dollars of the pay-off. The balloon contract is also something to avoid. It provides for a final payment which is considerably larger than any of the previous installments. If you aren't aware of it, or aren't prepared to meet that final, large payment, your purchase could, again, be repossessed, or you may be compelled to refinance at wholly unreasonable terms. It does pay, in credit arrangements, to deal with people you know, and, above all, to read your contract carefully.

Steven Counts, a worker at the Granite City Travel Lodge, 19th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, told police Jan. 9 someone entered his 1965 auto and moved several wires under the dashboard in an attempt to start the car. Wine bottles and cigarettes were left in the auto.

THREE JUVENILES ARRESTED

In unrelated incidents Jan. 9, Granite City police arrested three juveniles in an alley in the 3000 block of Madison Ave. A 14-year-old Granite City youth was charged with possession of cannabis after officers allegedly found a bag of cannabis in his possession. Two 15-year-old Granite City youths were charged with possession of cannabis when police reported finding a cannabis cigarette in each one's possession.

WOMAN SERVED WARRANT

Michelle E. Davis, 18, of 3 Jones Park was arrested Jan. 9 on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a disorderly conduct charge and failure to appear on a curfew violation. She was arrested in the 1900 block of Benton Street.

GC WOMAN CITES BATTERY, DAMAGE TO DOOR OF HOME

Robert North, 46, 2943 Marshall Ave. was charged Jan. 9 with battery and criminal damage to property.

Penny Ostrander of 2029 Russell St. said North kicked open the front door of her residence and then punched her several times in the left side of the head with his fists. Madison police assisted in North's arrest, which was made in the 1600 block of Second Street, Madison.

AIR COMPRESSOR STOLEN

A 220-volt air compressor, valued at $450, was taken from a barn in rural Granite City Jan. 9. The barn is owned by Donald Bunselmeyer.

ADDRESS IS INCORRECT

Billy J. Castile, 42, whose driver's license has been revoked by the Secretary of State's office after his conviction on two charges of driving under the influence of alcohol, does not live at 2446 Dewey Ave., the occupant there said Thursday. The address was provided by the state.

Lancers crush Warrior matmen, 37-10

By GREGG OCHOA

BELLEVILLE — The Big Meet turned out to be a Big Bust.

Belleville East handed the Warrior wrestling squad its first loss to an area team, crushing Granite City 37-10 in a dual meet Friday night.

The Lancers improved to 8-0 while Granite City is 9-2.

"This was truely a team effort," said East coach Urban Baum. "We got outstanding performances from everybody. We have to have that. We don't tear anybody up, so we have to solid efforts in order to do well."

Maybe so, but on this night the Lancers dominated. Granite City managed only three wins. Dennis Gabriel (145) held off a late surge by Herbie Brydon to win 14-12.

At 155 pounds, Paul Brandt had to do the same against Jerry Sauerwein. The final score was 17-15. The only dominate Warrior was 167-pounder Mike Fenoglio. He mauled Eric Hurst 11-1.

"They rose to the occasion," said Granite City coach Walt Whitaker. "Apparently, we weren't in the frame of mind that we should have been in. We are going to wipe this one from the map."

The match was an agressive one and spirited with the Lancer crowd cheering every East victory. The Warriors seemed sluggish at the beginning of every match. It seemed like they were always behind in the first period.

"We were pretty good second and third period wrestlers. But in the first period they laid it on us," Whitaker said.

If anything, the Warriors seemed passive.

"We had a lot of stalling calls against us that we don't usually get, but then again we didn't go after people like we normally do."

The loss most likely will cost Granite City its No. 1 ranking in the Metro East area wrestling poll. The Lancers, holding down the No. 7 spot, are sure to move up.

"All along we felt like we were a better team," Baum said. "Our performance at the Granite City tourna-

Don Deterding puts his heart into basketball

Granite City High Coach Don Deterding has a heart for basketball. He's been coaching for 26 years. He likes the excitement, the action of the game. He enjoys the thrill of winning; and he feels the disappointment of losing.

"Basketball has been a big part of my life," said Deterding. "It's as much a part of me today as when I started in 1957. Basketball is a feeling I thoroughly enjoy."

Deterding, 51, relaxed in his office after running his players through a strenuous workout at the Granite City High School gym.

On the wall of Deterding's office is a motto of famous UCLA Coach John Wooden. "Success is peace of mind...in knowing you did your best to become the best you are capable of becoming," the slogan reads.

"That's the way I try to live and coach," said Deterding. "I ask my kids to play their best, to give it everything on the basketball floor."

Deterding is, known for his skill and ability as a coach and former player.

He learned the art of good basketball from legendary Collinsville Coach Virgil Fletcher. Deterding was a 6-1 All-State center at Collinsville in 1952. His team was rated first in the state.

"Fletcher was my idol; he was a super gentleman," he said. "About 90 percent of what I've absorbed in basketball, I got from Fletcher. I try to pass it on to the kids I coach."

Deterding's assistant coach is Jack Parker, brother of Tom Parker, a former star player at Collinsville.

The veteran coach is still anxious to get to the gym on the night of a game.

"It's still a thrill for me to drive to the gym, to get ready to play," Deterding said. "You feel it inside, the anticipation of the game. I don't talk much before a game. I'm tense. I'm thinking about how we'll play our opponent."

When the referee blows the whistle and the action starts, Deterding is thoroughly involved in the intensity of the game.

"I learn to tune everything out but the game," he said.

From his seat on the bench, Deterding's eye catches every play, every basket and every missed shot. He smiles when a player hits a jump shot. He frowns when a player throws the ball away.

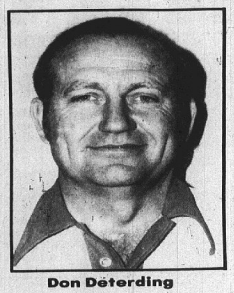

"I yell in a game," he said. "My kids understand. They don't take it personal. I yell one minute and pat them on the back the next minute. If you're going to point out the negative, you'd better emphasize their positives."

Deterding was a 14-year old farm boy from Marysville when he got interested in basketball at Collinsville High in 1949.

"I was in a high school P.E. class," he recalled. "Coach Fletcher was watching me play basketball. He asked me to come out for the team. I had never played before."

Deterding's talents as a player quickly blossomed until he was selected as an All-State player as a senior.

"After practice I went home and helped milk the cows on our farm," he recalled. "My dad and mom were big fans."

Deterding graduated from, high school in 1952. He helped his dad for a year on the farm, then graduated from Southeast Missouri State at Cape Girardeau in 1957.

"My first coaching job was at Mineral High near Kiwani," he said. "There were only 34 kids in the high school."

He went on to coach at Dexter (Mo.) High, then to Effingham, Ill., and to Granite City in 1967.

At Effingham, he had a 28-2 record in his last year and took his team to state.

"It was one of the major decisions of my life to leave Effingham," he said. "I had all my juniors coming back on the team in the next year."

His players didn't want him to leave Effingham.

"My kids at Effingham put a big plywood sign on my porch," he said. "The sign said: 'Stick with us, coach.' That was the greatest thrill of my life."

When the Granite City school district split into two high schools in 1973, Deterding went to Granite North. Because of a health problem, he stopped coaching for three years and was athletic coordinator at North.

"I really missed coaching," he said. "It was hard to sit in the stands and watch the game."

In 1976, he went to Granite South as coach, and when the two high schools merged in 1983, he kept his job as head basketball coach.

"I feel I relate well to the kids," he said. "They play hard for me."

Deterding is basically a defensive-oriented coach.

"The harder you work on defense, the better chance you have of winning," he said. "We concentrate on the zone defense."

This year, the Warriors have a fast, running offense.

"We have four good passers and some quick, good shooters," he said. "I believe that you've got to have a good shot with each possession of the ball."

On his office bulletin board are pictures of his past teams and outstanding players. There are photos of his All-State players: Gary Simpson in 1968 and Terry Ripka in 1971. There's a photo of his team which went to the Sweet Sixteen in 1971.

"Simpson was the best player I ever coached," he said. "He had the potential of playing pro ball."

Deterding was extremely saddened when Simpson died of cancer four years ago, and he gave the eulogy at Simpson's funeral.

Deterding has a competitive spirit.

"I'm not a 'rah, rah,' type of coach," he said. "I don't give long speeches at halftime, I compliment the kids. I chew on them. I ask for their best. I try to instill a winning spirit in them. I want my kids to respect me."

This year, the Illinois High School Association has ruled that coaches have to stay seated on the bench during a game. Coaches can only stand to applaud a good play or call a timeout.

"I don't like to sit down," he said. "I like to stand, too. It's part of being involved in the game."

After a practice, Deterding drives his pickup truck to his home in Troy. His 17-acre farm is a quiet retreat for himself, his wife, Dee, and children.

"When I leave practice I try to leave the game behind," he said. "I guess I'm still a farm boy at heart. I raise a few angus, some alfalfa and corn."

Deterding's four daughters were good athletes. His daughter, Robin, was once voted athlete of the year by Teen Magazine.

When Deterding wants to relax, he takes a quiet walk to the woods on his farm.

"I have a tree trunk where I sit," he said. "I relax and watch nature. I do some work on the farm."

Deterding is a religious man. He often prays privately after a game.

When he retires from coaching and teaching, he wants to move to Missouri with his family and live on a farm.

"When I retire, I want to raise some cattle, do some farming," he said. "If I really miss the game, I guess I could coach a little in Missouri."

Wrestling

ment wasn't a true indicator."

For East, a shot at knocking off the Metro East's top team was extra incentive. The Warriors, meanwhile, found out it's tough to stay on top. In addition, Whitaker feels the rankings may have had an adverse effect on his team.

"Some of our kids, I think, got a little big-headed and they shouldn't have. We worked extremely hard for this match, but sometimes you think all you have to do is show up on the mat to win."

Belleville East won the first seven matches and stormed to a 28-0 lead. Despite the team score, some of the bouts were close.

Among them, Brent Davis suffered a tough 2-point loss to Jason Storner 4-2 at 98 pounds. Gary Mann and Brett Carmer each dropped 6-0 decisions in the 112 and 119-pound bouts, respectively.

Carner had wrestled Steve Schmelzel before and had beaten the East wrestler. Whitaker felt 119 and 126-pounds (where Rich Wilson lost 10-3 to Rob Mank) were two key weights for Granite City.

Actually, Whitaker was surprised by the whole turn of events.

"I thought it would come down to whoever won the 185 and heavyweight matches and in order for us to win we had to be ahead going in."

But, the match was already decided as East led 28-10 going into the final two bouts.

"This was a very satisfying win for us," Baum said.

Most port's a blend

More than 90 percent of port wine is a blend of vintage ports that are aged in wood casks. But vintage port is aged in the bottle. It takes at least 20 years for a good vintage port to reach maturity, sometimes much longer.

Some eat dog meat

Some people in the Philippines consider dog meat a delicacy, and live dogs are sold in markets for use as food, but not in metropolitan Manila, where the sale of dog meat is prohibited.

RETURN WITH US TO... Arthur Godfrey

by Bill Owen

LISTENERS TO WJSV WASHINGTON (LATER WTOP) IN THE EARLY 1930S WERE AMONG THE FIRST TO LEARN THE TALENTS OF RED GODFREY AS HE WAS THEN KNOWN. HE WAS THE FIRST RADIO PERFORMER TO SUCCEED WITH AN INFORMAL STYLE... CHATTING, SINGING AND PLAYING THE UKULELE. ARTHUR GODFREY TIME WAS FIRST HEARD APRIL 30, 1945.

GODFREY'S FOLKSY MANNER OF DOING COMMERCIALS JARRED THE ADVERTISING WORLD WHICH HAD PREVIOUSLY RECOGNIZED ONLY TWO STYLES OF SALESMANSHIP... FORMALITY AND HARD-SELL.

ARTHUR GODFREY BROUGHT HIS EASY-GOING MANNER TO TV IN 1948. HIS TALENT SCOUTS BECAME A LONG-RUNNING FAVORITE. IN 1949 HE ADDED THE VARIETY SHOW, ARTHUR GODFREY AND HIS FRIENDS.

WITH HIS LONGTIME ANNOUNCER, TONY MARVIN, AND ALL HIS "LITTLE GODFREYS," GODFREY CONTINUED HIS NETWORK RADIO SHOW UNTIL HE TOOK IT OFF THE AIR HIMSELF APRIL 30, 1972... TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS AFTER HIS CBS PROGRAM BEGAN.
